Blast Observation Posts of Japanese Near Singapore

Destruction Spread Among The Invaders

By C. YATES MC DANIEL
SINGAPORE, Feb. 5—(P)—Despite continuous bombing and strafing by Japanese airmen, Singapore's artillery has blasted enemy observation posts, knocked out opposing batteries and spread destruction in the transport of Japanese troops into jump-off points for invasion of this island stronghold.

That the Japanese still have not won complete control of the air was demonstrated this morning by Hurricane fighters of the RAF which intercepted a large formation over Singapore, shot down one Japanese plane, probably another and damaged a third.

Civilian casualties from the past two days of blasting and machine gun strafing by the Japanese air force neared the 300 mark—228 injured and 63 killed. The people had virtually no safe place of refuge from bombs. Officially, however, these casualties were called comparatively light.

(The Japanese reported that their guns had been thundering across the mile-wide Johore strait since 6 p. m. yesterday, Singapore time. A Tokyo broadcast said the siege guns were pouring a steady stream of fire into the British forces and their positions in a grove of rubber trees near the head of the breached causeway leading from the Malayan mainland.

(Flames burst in the greenery as the Japanese shells found their mark, the broadcast declared "indicating that another enemy oil tank had been set up in flames." The broadcast added: "As evening deepened the thunder of guns grew in intensity.")

Heavy Troop Movements
Large movements of Japanese troops through Johore state toward the shore facing Singapore island were reported by British reconnaissance planes. Enemy troops have been massing in the area of Johore Bahru since the British imperialists finally withdrew to their island stronghold last Friday night and early Saturday.

The Japanese guns emplaced across the strait from Singapore began shelling the strongly fortified island last night and British guns retaliated with bombardment of Japanese transports in the Johore Bahru area and of gun positions.

Japanese planes kept up their raids on Singapore, making high level and low level bombing and machine gun attacks on the island, but the British Far East command said they caused comparatively little damage or casualties.

County Employees Are Appointed

The county court today re-appointed a number of county employees, whose terms expire March 1. They are: Dr. W. A. Beckmeyer, county physician, $100 per month; Mrs. J. H. Roberts, superintendent county home, $70 per month; J. H. Roberts, assistant at county home, $30 per month; Mrs. Amy Martin, matron rest room, $50 per month; Harry Butler, head janitor, $95 per month, an increase of $15 per month because of increased duties; James Burke, janitor second and third floors, $65 per month; Miss Erna Ann McClure, stenographer for county engineer, $50 per month, increase of $10 per month, because of increased duties.

All appointments are made for a period of one year, and the court record states that the court, in making all reappointments, has given consideration to the splendid co-operation received in the past year in the court's plan of economy.

Escaped Youths Are Captured

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Feb. 5—(P)—Three 16-year-old boys, escapees from the reformatory at Booneville, were arrested early today near Aurora by Highway Patrolman Harvey George, who said they had stolen three cars—one at Booneville, another here and a third at Mount Vernon.

They gave their names as Clyde Smith, Independence; Carroll Couch, Lamar, and Enid Stubblefield, Cassville. They escaped from the reformatory last night. Car theft charges are to be filed against them in Lawrence county, according to the highway patrol office here.

raid in three days on the big Soerabaja naval base while official silence suddenly cloaked the fate of Amboina, second most important naval station 1,000 miles farther east.

An N.E.I. communiqué reported by Aneta said there was no further news from Amboina, midway between Celebes and New Guinea, since the announcement yesterday that bitter fighting had developed between defense forces and landed Japanese troops with the tide of battle shifting.

Neither was there any word to indicate the turn of the fight at Kenbari on southeastern Celebes where the Japanese drove southward beach head by beach head.

The official announcement of the second raid on Soerabaja on eastern Java said some damage was caused.

Meanwhile, with the escape of the Dutch commander and part of the garrison of Balik Papan on the east coast of Borneo it was disclosed that destruction of vast oil properties in that area was carried out despite Japanese threats of dire reprisals.

Aneta said the Japanese commander sent the Dutch garrison a note that "all Dutchmen who participate in the destruction will be executed without exception."

The Dutch announced that the destruction was carried out completely as planned, and said some fighting continued in the Balik Papan area.

No details on the latest raid on Soerabaja were made public.

Open New School Of Journalism

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Lincoln university opened its new state supported school of journalism for Negroes today with four students enrolled—but Miss Lucile Bluford was not among them.

It was Miss Bluford, Kansas City Negro newspaper editor, who waged the legal battle for admittance to the University of Missouri which resulted in establishment of Lincoln's journalism department.

Thelma Berlack Boozier, acting director of the Lincoln journalism school, said "Miss Bluford conferred here yesterday with President Sherman D. Scruggs and myself but did not enroll."

Miss Bluford, a graduate of the University of Kansas, sought graduate journalism study at the University of Missouri, where Negroes never have been admitted. The Lincoln school is offering the graduate courses, but all four of the enrolled students are taking undergraduate work. Although classes began today, enrollment does not end until Feb. 12.

In a suit pending in federal district court, Miss Bluford seeks $10,000 damages from the University of Missouri registrar for refusing to let her enroll and also asks the court to declare her right to attend the state university at Columbia.

The state supreme court ruled last year Missouri university must admit her unless Lincoln offered her desired courses "within a reasonable time" after her request.

Postpones Talks With Union Leaders

WASHINGTON, Feb. 5.—(AP)—The White House said today that President Roosevelt had postponed until tomorrow the first of his heart-to-heart conferences with CIO and AFL leaders.

Six leaders of the rival organizations had been invited by Mr. Roosevelt to discuss with him today, and from time to time in the near future "all matters concerning labor's participation in the war." John L. Lewis, long a pillar of the CIO, was not on the guest list.

dawn and just as day broke the British guns began booming in deep chorus. For a while the duel of cannon raged across the strait.

The Japanese planes attacked shipping in Singapore harbor, Hurricane fighters of the RAF intercepted a large formation of Japanese aircraft over Singapore and destroyed one, probably destroyed another and damaged a third, the British reported.

An oil tanker at the naval base, which was set on fire two days ago by Japanese bombing, is still burning, the British headquarters' communiqué said.

A ministry of information survey disclosed that 41 persons were killed and 138 injured in yesterday's axis raids on Singapore.

Last night the inhabitants of the city heard a straight-from-the-shoulder broadcast by the ranking air raid precautions warden, who urged the authorities to utilize unemployed mining engineers to tunnel hills around the city to provide "shelter for the poorer Asiatic community who have no protection."

The warden bluntly asserted:

"It is no use telling the people that Malaya has had a thousand raids and they have stuck it, or that Chungking has had worse than we've had. Those places have ideal shelters and we have nothing except drains and odd slit trenches."

Nazis Near Tobruk

CAIRO, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Advance units of German Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's African army today were believed to have carried their advance to within 50 miles of Tobruk in a continuing axis counter-offensive that has covered 180 miles eastward since the capture of Bengasi.

This was the general interpretation of an RAF communiqué reporting that British bombers had been active both east and west of Tmimi. The town itself, at the eastern base of the Cirenaican bulge, is 60 miles west of Tobruk and 140 miles from the Libyan-Egyptian border.

The British army command said only that its patrols and mobile columns were active "along the whole of our front yesterday" but gave no details of the fighting in Libya against the axis offensive.

The British added that the RAF carried out continuous fighter sweeps over British forward troops while RAF bombers successfully engaged a number of enemy columns and destroyed numerous vehicles.

(The Italian high command announced today the axis forces had swept east of Derna, which is 175 miles west of the Libyan-Egyptian frontier.)

Death Penalty For A Slayer

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Leo Lyles, a Negro, faces the ultimate penalty in Missouri—death in the gas chamber—for the murder of Martin Twillman, a farmer, last Sept. 30.

He was convicted of the "diabolical, cold-blooded crime" yesterday by a jury which deliberated only one hour before returning the conviction and fixing the penalty.

Formal sentencing was deferred by Circuit Judge John J. Wolfe.

Lyle was one of a group of four Negroes who shot and killed Twillman and wounded his mother, Mrs. Katherine Twillman, after stopping their car on a lonely country road.

William E. Talbert, Arthur L. Butler and Willie Clayton, Negroes charged jointly with Lyles in connection with the slaying, will be tried later.

RAF Bombs French Cities With Leaflets

The first pamphlets they get from this country," remarked one highly placed official, "will be bombs."

Besides buoying the hopes of conquered France, the evident aims of the pamphlet raiding were to foster sabotage, stir unrest and encourage resistance to the German army of occupation.

Are Widely Strewn

In announcing the newest pamphlet raids. Early disclosed that most of the leaflets dropped were the same in content as those used in the opening bombardment early in January when 1,380,000 were strewn over Paris, 600,000 over Lille, and others elsewhere.

This pamphlet No. 1 contained assurances that the United Nations would win the war, as well as the peace to follow, and emphasized the traditional friendship between France and America.

In its latest forays, the RAF let loose 1,020,000 more of these same pamphlets—246,000 in the Bourges area, 144,000 in the Dijon area and 530,000 in the vicinity of Paris.

In addition delivery of pamphlet number 2 was begun in the Brittany area with an initial consignment of 397,500 copies. The second pamphlet, printed in London like the first, bore three red, white and blue "W's" on its cover for victory.

Pamphlet No. 2 went fluttering down over these towns familiar to so many world war doughboys—St. Malo, 12,000; Brest, 72,000; Cherbourg, 6,000; Rennes, 276,000; St. Nazaire, 13,500, and Guincamp Lundeac, 18,000.

It carried excerpts from President Roosevelt's annual message to congress on the state of the union on Jan. 6—the message which said the chief executive had ordered production in 1942 and 1943 of 186,000 planes, 120,000 tanks, 55,000 anti-aircraft guns and 18,000,000 tons of merchant ships.

Red Guerrillas Panic The Enemy

BY EDDY GILMORE
MOSCOW, Feb. 5.—(AP)—Soviet guerrilla detachments today were reported to be creating wholesale panic behind the German lines as the Nazi armies sought to throw up fortifications and attempted counter-attacks in many sectors of the front.

Dispatches told of wide-ranging damaging Soviet raids on the railway lines essential to the Nazi efforts to bring up reserves. On one sector of the southwestern front the guerrilla bands were said to be marching 35 miles nightly in a systematic plan of destruction of German communications.

On the main battle front, meanwhile, today's Soviet communiqué announced recapture of five localities in the Kalinin area, with 5,300 of the defending Germans slain or wounded, and the seizure of six other populated places on the central front.

In this zone the Red army apparently was pushing westward on the road to Smolensk in the teeth of snow and ice and bitter Nazi resistance.

The operations of the guerrilla bands were seen as ample compensation for the time devoted to training these troops among whom are some of the toughest veterans in the Russian command, sharpshooting marksmen, daring boys of 16 and 17 and even women.

• The Washington Merry-go-Round

• by Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen

RIO DE JANEIRO—It was two o'clock in the morning. The Pan-American Conference was winding up its last tough day. The foreign ministers of the western hemisphere had knocked the heads of Peru and Ecuador together until at long last they promised to settle their century-old boundary dispute, thus ending aggression in the Americas.

Moonlight played on the palm trees outside. White swans glided in the ancient reflecting pool of the Foreign Office. But Pan-American diplomats, dog tired, cared naught about moon, swans or palm trees, as they waited for the translators to whip the Peruvian-Ecuadorian treaty into Spanish, English and Portuguese.

Only man still exuding vivaciousness was Brazil's indefatigable Foreign Minister Oswaldo Aranha. While waiting, he expounded to his colleagues on the evils of Hitler.

"Hitler," said Aranha, "has started two things which he will live to regret. One is his persecution of the Jews. That will come back to haunt Germany for years."

"The other is forcing the United States to become a great military nation. Before Hitler, the United States was one of the least militaristic countries in the world. It did not want to arm. But now that it is armed, its people will not permit it to be caught napping again. So it will suffer all the evils of militarism."

"But, Dr. Aranha," interrupted Sumner Welles with a twinkle in his eye, "Brazil will suffer from the same evils; for all that we have in the way of military supplies Brazil will have also. We intend to send you tanks, airplanes, artillery until we have made you the strongest nation in South America."

"That remark," interrupted Argentina's Foreign Minister Ruiz Gimazu, who had refused to break relations with the axis, "has all the earmarks of a dig at the Argentine Foreign Minister."

Replied Welles: "Yes, it certainly was, Mr. Foreign Minister."

Argentina vs. Brazil

Thus, vividly, was illustrated the most important thing that developed behind the scenes at Rio de Janeiro—the determination of the United States to help those who help her.

And because Brazil battled every minute for American policy at Rio, another important result of the conference was that in the century-old see-saw between Brazil and Argentina, Brazil definitely took the lead in Pan-American power politics.

On the surface, Argentina, once the recognized leader of Latin-America, forced the Rio conference to "recommend" instead of "decreeing" a break in axis relations. But behind the scenes, Argentina suffered a defeat from which it will not soon recover.

Viva Mexico!

Cleverest strategy to shove Argentina into the background was evolved by Brazil's Aranha when he actually made Foreign Minister Padilla the hero of the conference.

Aranha knew the traditional rivalry between Mexico and Argentina for the Spanish-speaking leadership of the western hemisphere. Located at opposite ends of the continent, both consider themselves dominant among Spanish-Americans.

So Aranha, foreign minister of a non-Spanish, Portuguese-speaking country, planted a clique in the galleries which, on the first day, cheered Mexico's Padilla to the skies. Brazilian newspapers did the rest, until Padilla, with his demands that all nations cut their axis ties immediately, became the most famous personage in Rio.

Then, at the last session of the conference, after all the set speeches were concluded, suddenly the galleries shouted: "We want Mexico!" And they kept it up until Foreign Minister Padilla went to the rostrum. There, he delivered the most eloquent speech of the entire conference, pointing his finger at the Argentine and Chilean delegates and calling upon them to break with the axis.

It was beautiful oratory—probably prepared in advance—and Mexico was cheered to the echo. The entire conference rose and applauded. But Argentine Foreign Minister Ruiz Gimazu slumped in his seat, his hands clenched, not clapping.

Among the Spanish-speaking countries, Mexico had stolen the show from Argentina. And in hemisphere politics, Portuguese-speaking Brazil had taken a long lead over its traditional rival.

Don't Peeve Reuther

WASHINGTON — Ernest Kanzler, brother-in-law of Edsel Ford and chief of the automotive division of the War Production Board, has obtained some interesting lowdown on who's who in the war production setup.

Kanzler's job is to speed up the conversion of the auto industry to full war production. Conferring with War Production Chief Donald Nelson, Kanzler complained of "meddling" by Ferdinand Eberstadt, civilian chairman of the Army-Navy Munitions Board.

The Army-Navy Munitions Board, composed of military brass-hats, was a key agency in the old defense organization. Jealous of their bureaucratic prerogatives, the brass-hats now are endeavoring to continue as big shots. Thus Eberstadt and Kanzler have crossed swords several times.

This was Nelson's significant advice to Kanzler—

"Don't worry about Eberstadt. We can handle him. If you make him mad it won't matter. What you want to watch is not to get Walter Reuther mad. If you make him mad, then we will be in hot water and you'll be in trouble with me."

NOTE: Two-fisted young vice-president of the United Auto Workers, Reuther is highly regarded as a crack industrial expert by Nelson and Undersecretary of War Robert Patterson. After former OPM Director General Knudsen had repeatedly disregarded proposals by Reuther for increasing war production in the auto industry, Patterson went over Knudsen's head and appointed Reuther as his personal representative to make a survey of several auto plants preparatory to converting them to armament production.

Kanzler lost no time in taking his boss' hint. A few hours later he started action on one of Reuther's chief proposals.

Kanzler sent telegrams to all auto, truck and parts manufacturers ordering them to submit by February 5 a list of machine tools in their possession, plus information on what these tools are being used for and the amount of war goods the plants are now making.

Reuther long urged the compilation of such data as a preliminary step for pooling the machine tools of the auto industry for greater war output. He was vigorously opposed by C. E. Wilson, head of General Motors, who fought tool pooling with the backing of Knudsen. Kanzler's move is the first attempt to ascertain exactly the tool resources of the auto-makers.

Protecting a Symbol

The Liberty Bell, ancient symbol of American freedom, is going to be protected against bomb damage if the offer of an insurance company is accepted. The company would construct a bomb-proof vault into which the bell could be lowered in case of a raid.

If this project goes through, it would not be the first time the Liberty Bell was a war fugitive. In September, 1777, when the British army was on the point of occupying Philadelphia, the old bell that had rung out the news of independence was removed from the State House tower, and carried by the retreating American army to Allentown, Pa., where it remained hidden for almost a year.

It is good to preserve such symbols; better still to preserve the thing symbolized—liberty itself. Which is, roughly, what the war is all about.

Six Words

An unnamed young soldier out in Hawaii has a message for you.

He didn't know he had a message.

But he had. A correspondent touring the new defenses of Hawaii found him in a secluded dugout, where he was sleeping on the hard ground. Asked if that wasn't pretty tough, the young soldier grinned, spat, and delivered his message:

"Was. Not now. Used to it."

The sooner we civilians get into that frame of mind about how tough it is to undergo the thousand little inconveniences that go with war, as well as the real sacrifices, the better. The end of the war will be in sight when 130,000,000 people are saying about how tough it is to make their own sacrifices:

"Was. Not now. Used to it."

Is It a Very Good House?

Having heard considerable criticism of his father's government of Britain while on leave from the Middle East Army, Major Randolph Churchill was moved to ask this question of his fellow-members of the House of Commons:

"Although this might not be a very good government, ought we not to ask ourselves, is it a very good House of Commons?"

There's a thought in that. While our own House of Representatives very properly exercises its right and duty to investigate the conduct of the war, it might give an occasional thought to the conduct of the House, and of the Senate, too, but especially of their individual members.

For there is an investigatory body which is also watching the conduct of members of Congress, weighing some of the ill-considered statements that have been pouring out on all occasions or on no occasion. That is the entire electorate, which is going to weigh those individual records in the House and in a third of the Senate this year. The public is going to insist not merely that we have effective administrative conduct of the war, but wise legislative conduct as well.

MEMO

If you bake at home—remember, Fleischmann's is the only yeast with all these vitamins!

Simple to Make... And, Oh! So Good!

WHEAT GRIDLE CAKES

1 cup milk	1 cup lukewarm water
2 tablespoons light brown sugar	2 tablespoons melted shortening
1 teaspoon salt	2 eggs, well beaten
1 cake Fleischmann's Yeast	2 1/2 cups sifted flour

Scald milk; add sugar and salt; cool to lukewarm. Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water and add to lukewarm milk. Add melted shortening; well-beaten eggs and flour. Beat thoroughly to make smooth batter. Cover and let rise in warm place, free from draft, until light, about 1 hour. Stir well and bake on hot greased griddle.

Method:

For Overnight Method: Use 1/4 cake Fleischmann's Yeast and an additional 1/2 teaspoon salt. Cover and let stand overnight in a cool place.

Fleischmann's was the only yeast used in Cooking School demonstrations last week. The Fresh Yeast—with the yellow label.

A party treat
that can't be beat!
punch
a la Karo

Serve this smooth, creamy, luscious cherry milk punch at your next bridge party... But don't let the family start tasting it before the guests arrive—or you'll have to make a new lot! For this is an irresistible drink! Good for everyone—KARO is rich in Dextrose, food-energy sugar!

CHERRY MILK PUNCH

1/2 (No. 2) can red tart pitted cherries	6 cups milk
1/2 cup KARO (red label)	1/2 cup cream, whipped
1 teaspoon vanilla	8 Maraschino cherries

Drain cherries, and chop into small pieces. Combine again with fruit juice; add KARO, and vanilla. Stir in milk. Chill. Pour in tall glasses, and top with whipped cream. Decorate with a Maraschino cherry and a mint leaf. Makes 8 (8-ounce) glasses.

BOY'S
★ A First Line FOOD FOR DEFENSE Against Fatigue ★

Jack Stankey, pictured here, starts delivering oven-fresh Taystee Bread every morning, even before the first rooster crows. Like Jack, there are twelve others who form the rapid delivery system which keeps groceries in Sedalia and nearby towns supplied with the freshest bread your money can buy!

Taystee's Rapid Delivery System Means Everybody Can Enjoy Oven-Fresh Taystee Bread . . . Every Single Day!

Of course, one good reason why Taystee Bread always arrives at your home fresh is because it's rushed to your grocer in those clean, white and red trucks you see all over town. Taystee's hurry-up delivery system means that everybody can enjoy oven-fresh Taystee Bread... every single day!

Another reason why Taystee Bread always has that fresh wheat taste is because it's baked in a very special way! Yes indeed, Taystee Bread is baked clear through and browned all over with a tender crust that keeps this bread amazingly fresh... and temptingly delicious!

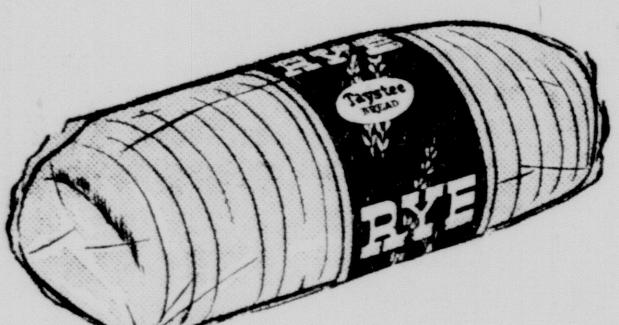

A CORDIAL INVITATION TO VISIT US!

If you would like to see how Taystee Bread is made... we will gladly arrange a guided tour for you and your friends! We want you to see and examine the fine ingredients which are used in making Taystee Bread. We want you to watch every step of the baking process... and we are sure that when you see with your own eyes how Taystee Bread is made... You'll make that next loaf... TAYSTEE BREAD!

Have You Tried Taystee Cracked Wheat Bread?

The same delicious wheaty flavor as Taystee Wheat, PLUS the added roughage of cracked wheat

Have You Tried Taystee Rye Bread?

Here is the loaf the men folks rave about. Taystee Rye Bread has a soft, fresh tenderness and fine rich, rye flavor that says more, more, more!

PTA Plans For Founder's Day

Sedalia Parent Teacher Council met Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 4 at 2 o'clock at the library. The devotional was given by Mrs. T. E. Harris, president of Horace Mann school. Her topic was

"Comfort" using Bible references and giving an original poem.

Announcement was made of Founder's Day for council in high school will be held at the high school auditorium Monday evening, February 9. C. F. McCormick, of Springfield, state chairman of motion pictures and visual education will be the principal speaker. Several schools reported organizing pre-school associations. It is a training school for mothers of pre-school age children, Horace Mann being the first to organize January 30.

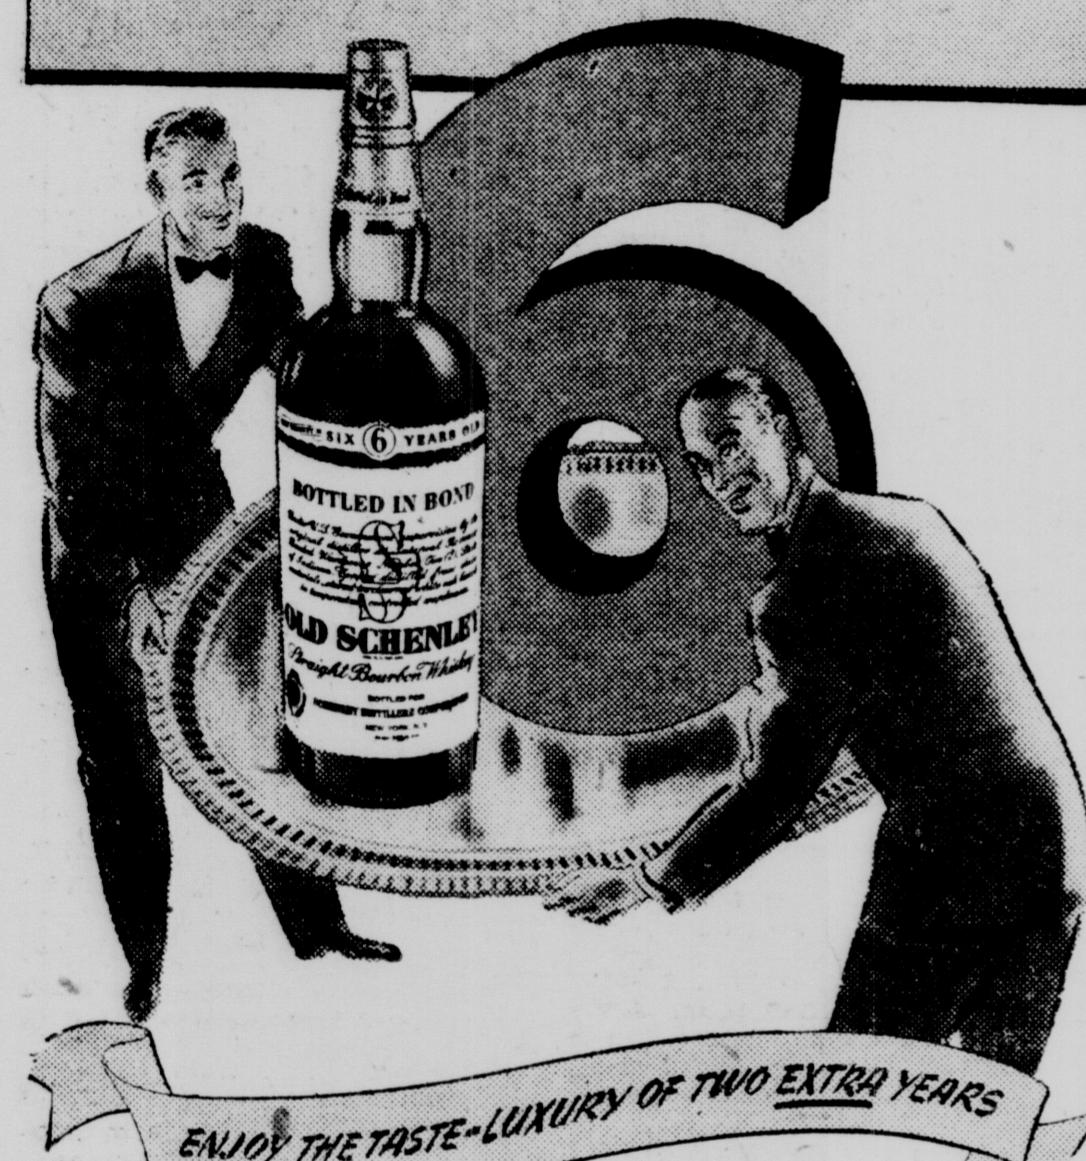

Dr. C. E. Presnell of the state board of health of Jefferson City, assisted by Miss Bettye Fields, school nurse gave an illustrated talk on dental health. All units in the city were represented and showed much interest in this project. Mrs. Paul Zink, president of the Sedalia P. T. A. Council, presided.

The Hoangho, with a length of 2600 miles, is the eighth longest river in the world.

More than half the population of the world, estimated at 2,134,000,000, is in Asia.

Relief At Last For Your Cough

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion is a beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

The Central Missouri Farmer

Greater Use Of Fertilizer Expected

Efforts Must Be Made To Increase Crop Yields

While over 2½ million dollars are spent each year in Missouri for commercial fertilizers, it is likely that the losses of plant food from improper handling of barnyard manure are several times the amount contained in fertilizers purchased, says George E. Smith of the University of Missouri College of Agriculture. It is probable that not over one-half of the manure produced is ever returned to land where it will benefit future crops.

With the need for increased production, every effort must be made to obtain the highest yields possible. Present indications point to a fair supply of phosphorus and potash, but priorities have been established on nitrate of soda and it is possible that restrictions may be placed on other nitrogen carriers. Missouri farmers obtain most of the vital element nitrogen from farm manures and green manures.

It is probable that the higher prices received for farm products will cause some sections of the country to use more fertilizer. This, coupled with defense needs for some fertilizer ingredients will certainly cause higher prices and shortages of other fertilizer materials than nitrogen. It is essential that every effort be made to return the largest amount of barnyard manure under conditions that retain the greatest possible content of its original fertilizer value.

The value of farm manure in increasing crop yields is for the most part due to the nitrogen and potash it contains. Its content of phosphorus is not great, and for this reason it is necessary to supplement this low content with superphosphate. Manures add organic matter which increases soil humus. This makes for greater availability of plant nutrients in the soil, and brings about better soil tilth with greater water penetration and ease of cultivation.

Small Loss In Shipping Eggs

Only about five per cent of all shell eggs being shipped to Great Britain under the Lease-Lend act are being lost en route from spoilage and breaking, the U. S. Department of Agriculture has learned. That estimate was made recently before the House of Commons by Major Lloyd George, parliamentary undersecretary to the British Minister of Food.

The per cent, according to poultrymen in the surplus marketing administration, compares favorably with normal domestic shell egg losses in movement from farm to consumer.

Efficient methods of handling, packaging and shipping Lend-Lease eggs account in large part for the successful delivery, SMA officials report. Eggs packed for Lend-Lease shipment must meet export grade standards, and, before they are stowed in the ship's hold, they must undergo a final government inspection to make sure they meet grade requirements.

Further studies of improved methods are constantly being made, and after May 15 of this year, no Lease-Lend shipments of shell eggs will be made without refrigeration. This is to prevent possible losses from warm weather.

The supply of American eggs reaching Britain has reached the point where British stores are being permitted to allocate their stocks to customers. Eggs had formerly been rationed by the British government.

Requests For Plays Popular

Requests for plays are quite popular at the county extension office by groups who are interested in producing plays for entertainment in their localities and for the maintaining of morale of their families and friends. Of the 350 in the play library at the office, about one-third have been checked out for reading in the last two months.

Committees who are not already in action in those communities planning to present plays in the county contest will be selecting plays soon.

The dates for the contest were set by the County Dramatics committee as Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, March 10 to 11. This is approximately the same time as in the past two years and comes be-

Club Paves Way For Tomorrow

The Ionia Home Economics Extension club of which Mrs. Edward Crenshaw is president, believes in carrying out its motto, "Paving the Way For Tomorrow."

One of the ways in which the members are doing that is to use some of their future homemakers who have been 4-H club girls and are now coming into women's club activities although they have not yet established homes of their own.

Three of these young women, Irma Brockman, Lucille Brown, and Iola Freidley are to have charge of a toy collection next fall as preparations for Christmas giving to the less fortunate. Another, Wilma Posson, serves as reading chairman.

These girls as they become older are assuming these and other responsibilities which not only help them and the community but are really "paving the way for tomorrow."

Pettis County Women Are Ready To Sew

Clothing Leaders Are To Meet On February 12

The return of the dress form has come about with the return of the war. Although many progressive women have used dress forms for a number of years, others who have done little or no sewing for themselves will be stepping forth this spring in smart homemade clothing.

Pettis county rural women choose not to be caught with their old clothing and rationing cards yet they want to be patriotic and help bring victory. One meager way in which they can help win the war is to do their own sewing thus leaving millions of man hours of labor available for defense duties.

To Make Forms

Those women who like to make their own clothing for reasons in addition to being patriotic are happy over the opportunity to make dress forms through the Home Economics Extension clubs.

Their clothing leaders will have a meeting with Miss Mary Robinson, state clothing specialist, on Thursday, February 12, at the Maplewood Grange Hall for the purpose of instruction in making and using dress forms.

The two women who are named as clothing leaders from each of the extension clubs will then assist their club members. Although this activity was one carried on in the clubs twenty years ago, only a few of the women who made dress forms have remained the same size; however, some of them have been able to pad the form and continue using it. Some of those women and many of the new club members plan to make new ones.

Leaders From Clubs

The leaders from the various clubs are:

Mrs. R. H. Koch, Mrs. C. E. Wells, Mrs. Joe Youngkamp, Mrs. A. Meyer, Mrs. J. R. Blaylock, Mrs. L. F. Lee, Jr., Mrs. S. G. Whipple, Mrs. M. T. Dabner, Mrs. D. E. Edwards, Mrs. Charles Romig, Mrs. Craig, Mrs. Leland Bealert, Mrs. J. D. Ferguson, Mrs. Floyd McKeenhan, Mrs. William Bolton, Mrs. Clay Leftwich, Mrs. Jas. Cranfield, Mrs. Russell Branstetter.

Lou Gehrig hit his first and last major league baseball home runs on the same day of the year, September 27, 1923, and 1938.

The "masse shot" is used in billiards and is a stroke made by hitting the cue ball vertically or nearly so.

fore the busy spring work starts on the farms.

Those communities planning to enter the county contest as well as those individuals planning to enter the play writing contest should submit their entries to the county extension office as soon as possible.

The dates for the contest were set by the County Dramatics committee as Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, March 10 to 11. This is approximately the same time as in the past two years and comes be-

Plan Jersey Program For This Year

Dairymen And Agents Of Seventh District Convene

Eighteen dairymen and county agents representing the seventh Missouri Jersey Parish district met at Windsor last Friday to plan the Jersey program for the district for 1942. Those that represented Pettis county included Earl Wood of Smithton, William McKnight, Sedalia and J. U. Morris, county extension agent.

William J. Keegan, representative of the American Jersey Cattle club, discussed the bull program and showed a very interesting set of pictures of the Jersey section of the National Dairy Show, held at Memphis, Tenn., last fall.

The seventh district Parish show will be held at Windsor this year on about May 22. The officers of the Parish will select the place of the 1943 Parish show.

The annual state Jersey sale will be held during the second week of October.

The officers for the parish, elected at the meeting, include: Paul Slusher, Lexington, director; E. M. Copeland, Hughesville, vice-director; S. H. Miller, Marshall, secretary. The county directors representing the parish include: Jackson county, Ed Watson; Cass county, Ross Helm; St. Clair county, M. I. Meyers; Henry county, H. C. Goodrich; Johnson county, J. L. Snyder; Fayette county, Paul Slusher; Saline county, S. H. Miller; Pettis county, Earl Wood; and Benton county, R. F. Gregory.

Paul Slusher was selected as a member of the state sale committee to assist in selecting the animals from this parish that will be consigned to the state sale.

Gold Seals In For 4-H Clubs

Gold seals for those 4-H clubs which met all the requirements in their work last year have been received in the county extension office this week. The seals will be presented to the following clubs to be attached to their charters:

Ringen Workers, Sunnyside Community, Snappy Smelser, Houston Happy Stitchers, Houston Poultry, Liberty Girls' and Boys' Poultry, Maplewood Health and First Aid, Oak Grove Clothing Club, Aviator Good Will, Flat Creek Young America at Work, Dresden Community, Georgetown Community, Maplewood Better Wool and Mutton, Prairie Ridge Stitch and Cackle and Hopewell Ridge Pinhook Stitchers.

In order to have received the first year gold seal, the clubs had at least five members in one project working with a club leader in charge. They had a regular set of officers who planned and conducted their club program for the year with the assistance of their leaders. The club was required to have an exhibit of club products, to have a community achievement program, do judging and give public demonstrations. They also had to have at least 60 per cent of their members complete their project work and submit a report to the county office.

These clubs are eligible to work further and receive a second year seal in 1942 while new clubs and those not receiving their first seal for the past year's work may receive the first one to appear on their new style charter.

Missouri USDA War Board Question Box

Q. Should consumers avoid buying foods needed by England?

A. If we reach our 1942 production goals, this will not be necessary. As a matter of fact, if the goals are reached the United States will consume more of nearly all these foods in 1942 than ever before.

Q. Should consumers stock up on any foods?

A. There is no restriction upon the purchase of food here. However, abundant supplies of food are likely to cause food speculators and hoarders to incur heavy losses instead of the profits which they anticipate. Should hoarding become a serious problem, the government has ample power to control it, including its reserve stocks which could be sold promptly.

Q. Should I stop buying foods that must be imported, like coffee, chocolate, bananas, and tea?

A. No, because the very livelihood of friendly nations depends upon our purchases of these products. To stop buying them would harm rather than help the good neighbor policy.

Q. What effect will the program to increase production of farm products have on retail prices of foods?

A. Farmers have very little control over retail prices of foods but production plans for 1942 provide for large supplies which should assure fair prices to consumers. Adequate production is the best insurance against inflationary farm prices.

Q. If we have plenty of food, why are prices going up?

A. Farm prices have risen in response to a rapid increase in demand brought about by increased industrial activity and consumer buying power, together with Lend-Lease demand for some farm products. Farm prices, on the average, have reached the goal of parity for the first time in 20 years. The rise has seemed rapid because it started from a very low point.

Q. Is the government doing anything to try to keep food prices down?

A. The government is encouraging farmers to produce plenty for all needs, and it is watching all food prices for signs of speculation and profiteering. For example, a ceiling has been placed on raw sugar to prevent an unreasonable price. Consumers can cooperate with the government in preventing price increases by not hoarding.

Be Calm--Sugar Rationing Doesn't Mean Starvation

"Keep calm—you haven't starved yet," might be said to those who are so concerned about sugar.

There are many other foods which could be of greater concern if rationed since the only food value of sugar is carbohydrate which is available in many other foods. The facts are that the average American has consumed much more sugar than necessary for good health. In 1935 the average consumption of candy alone was more than 16 pounds for every man, woman and child in the United States. That provided one-third of the sugar needed since three-quarters to one pound of sugar per person is adequate.

The need now is for every individual who wants to help with defense activities to learn to eat desserts which do not contain much sugar, to drink ice cold milk, tomato or other fruit juices instead of drinks requiring sugar bases, and to develop the habit of eating apples, raisins or other fresh fruit in place of candy. Jelly, jam, and preserves may be partially replaced by honey, sorghum, molasses and maple syrup. Cookies and gingerbread may take preference over rich cakes with icings. The deliciousness of natural fruit flavors may become more appreciated if and when the public learns to eat such things as grapefruit un-sweetened, or peaches and cream without sugar.

Sugar rationing may even help the people of Pettis county to appreciate more fully their privilege of having the wholesome food values of milk, fruits, vegetables, whole grain cereals, meat and eggs off Pettis county farms.

In addition to the cash income received by farmers from the sale of dairy products, it is estimated that the cream, milk and butter consumed on farms had a value of about $460,000,000, bringing the gross farm income from dairy products to more than 2½ billion dollars in 1941.

Big Income From Dairy Products

In 1941, according to U. S. Department of Agriculture estimates, dairy products were the largest single source of income on American farms, making up 17 per cent of the cash farm income from the sale of all crops and livestock combined.

Farm income from sale of dairy products has been increasing since 1938 and in 1941 was 20 per cent larger than in 1940. The $1,830,000,000 income from milk in 1941

USDA Board Urges Care With Tires

Farmers May Help In War Effort By Cooperation

Because civilian use of rubber tires must be cut drastically to aid the war effort, farmers are urged to do their utmost to conserve and repair their tires, B. C. Claycomb, chairman of the Pettis County USDA War Board, said yesterday.

War in the East Indies threatens our future rubber imports at the same time that our military need for tires is growing, he pointed out. By recapping, retreading and vulcanizing tires on their automobiles and farm equipment, farmers may favorably affect this country's fortunes.

Repair efforts also will serve the farmers' welfare, since certificates for new tires will be issued to them only for tractors, farm implements and trucks which are used to haul farm products to market, Claycomb said.

Prevention Important

Prevention of tire trouble is an important as its cure, he added. Farmers are already exerting extra caution to see that foreign matter is kept from treads, that tires are free of grease and oil, rims straightened, equipment in storage jacked up to relieve pressure on tires, that tires are shadowed from excess sunlight, and that cracked tires are painted and plugged.

Correct air pressure add to the life-span of tires for tractors and farm implements. Figures in the following table may be of help.

CHAPTER XXV

NEXT morning was one of those days that starts wrong and gets worse. A lady in a trailer had given birth to a baby, and I had to help her scared husband pack for the hospital at 6:15, with our truckies yelling for their grub. A couple in Cabin Five planned to cut down their night's overhead by swiping a pair of sheets, and threatened me with the law when I made 'em open up their suitcase. Dolf got hungry and pinched a couple of flapjacks so hot they burnt his mouth, and waved his tail at me when I jumped him. And there was a love letter from the bank, reminding us of a note and mortgage due in a month, and wasn't it about time we paid it off—a little matter of $4076.60 with interest? Like it paid off, would they? So would I. Fat chance. On top of all that, it was raining and I was cross.

Doe was eating his breakfast in the corner when Judy pushed open the door. He got up. She looked at him without seeing him, and he made a quick change from red to kind of white. Judy said,

"Mom, what's the matter with that trailer under the pride of India tree?"

"Broke," I said. "On their uppers."

It was one of those things that happen in every camp. The wife was a young, pretty thing, thin as a stick of spaghetti and worn to a frazzle tending her half-sick husband who shaped up like a t. b. to me. They'd got this far on their way from Oklahoma to her brother in Florida, and I don't reckon they could have raised the change for a dollar between them. You could see they were scared.

"I thought I heard the girl crying," Judy said.

"That was me when they hung me up for the parking fee," I said.

"The man got a fill of gas."

"Also on tick. Every camp gets gas grafters. It's part of the overhead."

"Do you suppose they've got anything to eat?"

DOC OLIVER got up. As he passed us, Judy drew her skirts aside and leaned away, registering that if he didn't have leprosy, it was at least seven-year itch. From the window I could see him bracing the trailer girl, who was taking in some of the raggedy things she'd hung out to air. She lifted her head and spoke and he walked away, blinking like somebody had hung one on his chin. I stepped to the door.

"What are you up to now, Doc?"

He turned the eye of a sick fish on me. "Mom, what's wrong with me?" I said.

"I haven't got time to go into it now," I said.

"I never can seem to do anything right," he said. "Not with women."

"Well, tell Mom."

"I tried to give that girl a little money."

"What did you say to her?"

"What was there to say?"

"To me, I'm the one that got it from Doc."

"Did Angel know where it came from?"

"Yes." • • •

SHE didn't say anything more; just sat there, thinking. After a while I said,

"Was that on the up-and-up about going to your husband to Hendy Kent for the money?"

The color all went out of her face. "You know what it would mean."

"You'd have to take him back. Or would you?"

"I wouldn't be such a rotten sport as to take his money and not make good."

"No, I reckon not."

"Oh, Mom! I don't know what to do. Why, even Loren Oliver would laugh at me if I went back to Hendy! Did you see his face when I suggested it?"

"I did. He didn't look to me like he was laughing. Now, I want to ask you something. Do you still think Oliver shapes up like a crook, after seeing what he did about the trailer couple?"

"Oh, that's no argument," she said. "Lots of crooks are generous. They can afford to be. Why, Mom, President Gilchrist has practically admitted that they struck gold at Tambay."

It was true, too. A reporter had got to him, and the old boy said that all would be explained in his report to the trustees.

"Look, Judy," I said. "You won't let me borrow the money from Doc. Okay. How about getting it on a business deal?"

"What kind of a deal?"

"Straight business. If Mowry—I mean the business—forecloses on me, what becomes of Doc's Wands?" As soon as the Welliver lease is up, he loses them.

"What kind of it?"

"God give me patience! I'm banking on the hope that Doc will make us a loan on those dead Indians."

"You mean on the gold."

"Have it your own way. The point is, will you give him a lease as security for the loan if I get it?"

"Oh, I suppose so! But you'll have to do it all!"

Newfoundland Honors Memory of Grenfell

CLOSELY allied with the development of Labrador and Newfoundland, the name of Sir Wilfred Grenfell is known to every sailor, hunter, trapper and school boy of those rugged northern coasts.

The stamp above, issued in 1941, a year after Sir Wilfred's death, pictures the physician on the steamship Strathcona II looking across the water at his hospital ship Maraval.

Sir Wilfred was born in England in 1865. He graduated at Oxford and studied medicine at the London hospital, Whitechapel. After his studies were completed he devoted himself to reform work among the sailors of the North Sea, establishing homes on land and mission vessels at sea.

In 1892 Sir Wilfred went to Labrador to continue his work. He erected hospitals, co-operative stores, factories, an orphans' home, and a school. He extended his efforts to Newfoundland and in 1912 opened a seamen's institute at Saint Johns.

A doctor in a land where doctors were scarce, Grenfell soon achieved wide fame. He laid great stress on improving the physical, social, and economic conditions of the seamen of the coast.

The slang expression, "butter-fingered," was used as early as 1615.

Would Change Name of Town From The 'Rising Sun'

RISING SUN, Ind., Feb. 5—(P)—Residents of this Ohio river town of 1,500, their mayor says, don't see why they should change the name just because it happens to describe the emblem of the Japanese flag.

According to legend, the name was bestowed 144 years ago when a father and son flatboating down the river, spent one night on this spot, now in the southeast corner of Indiana. When he arose the next morning, the younger man, Samuel Fulton, was overwhelmed by the scenery that he cried, "Look, it's the Rising Sun."

Major Cooper was said at the thought of letting tradition like that die out. He said it had been "hard to take" some of the remarks about "Rising Sun" lately, but added, "I'd hate to give up a name we have used here since 1798."
